FOOTBALL HAS EXPRESSED ITS
UNDEAFETED IMPACT TO SOCIETY-
NFAS PRESIDENT

*The President of the NFAS, Senator
Adam Mthethwa*

The President of the National Football Association of Swaziland (NFAS), Senator Adam Mthethwa has expressed his excitement on behalf of the football family in as far as the cup of hope is concerned over the years. "Through this competition, football has expressed its undefeated impact to the society, as besides being just a sport, it is able to touch so many lives", said the President of the NFAS.

As the main mandate of the NFAS is to develop the game of football in the country, the football association is very much pleased with the investment that SPTC has made in the development of the sport. "As the NFAS our core mandate is to develop and regulate football in the country, we are very much appreciative to the investment that SPTC has made to football over the years", said the President of the NFAS.

In conclusion, he was very much happy for charity which was the ultimate winner of the competition.

year's edition included the U20's of the participating clubs. These clubs were, Mbabane Highlanders FC; Royal Leopards FC; Manzini Sundowns FC and Moneni Pirates FC. The 2017 edition had play-offs as a curtain raiser of the main event which was a week later at the Somhlolo National Stadium on Sunday, 27th August 2017. This play-offs match was played at the King Sobhuza Stadium in front of a capacity crowd. Moneni Pirates were victorious in this encounter by an odd goal which qualified them to the main event. This match was being curtain raised by the U20s match between Royal Leopards FC and Mbabane Swallows FC with the later winning by 5-0 thus booking themselves a place in the finals against Mbabane Highlanders who had won against Moneni Pirates by 2-1 earlier in the week.

FIFA TRAINS LOCAL REFEREES

The Federation of International Football (FIFA) held a Refereeing Course as from the 21st -25th August 2017 at the Technical Centre in Lobamba. This course was facilitated by two (2) FIFA Instructors. They were Mr. Novmandiez Desire Dove from Cot d'Ivoire and Mr Bento Thomas Navasee from Mozambique. The former specialized on the technical aspect of the course whilst the latter focused on the physical aspect of the same course. The main purpose of this course was to elevate the standard of refereeing in the new football season and also to accord our referees the opportunities to be recommended for the FIFA lists of referees for 2017.

The President; Referees Committee Chairman; CEO of the NFAS, FIFA Instructors and the Participants

This course was officially opened by the President of the National Football Association of Swaziland (NFAS) who highlighted about the importance of knowledge in as far as developing football is concerned.

"The main mandate of the NFAS is to develop and regulate football in the country, of which it is vital to develop the human resources that is used in the sport. More knowledge is very vital for the improvement of the sport", said the President of the NFAS. The facilitators also declared their full commitment in the course as they urged the participants to ask anything that they wanted to know in refereeing.

Referees doing the 4 000 metres run

The first item of the course was the fitness test that was done at the Somhlolo National stadium. Both men and women referees were tested. The women assistant referees were tested by running 2 sets intervals of 10 metres within 11 seconds. The males' assistant referees ran a distance of 30 metres, 5 times within a period of 510 seconds. These assistant referees also did the change of direction ability (CODA).
