Compulsory electronic of all football clubs under the auspices of EFA or organized football under the territory of EFA

FIFA, through the Regulations for the Status and Transfer of Players, specifically the March 2020 FIFA edition, now requires that all clubs playing football under the auspices of each member association, must be registered electronically through the FIFA/EFA electronic registration system. In this regard and to prepare for the seamless introduction of the electronic registration to the lower leagues the following shall apply for the forthcoming 2022/2023 football season:

- All football players and football clubs of the Premier League, National First Division League, National Women Football League and Youth Football Leagues under the auspices of the Premier League of Eswatini (PLE), as had been the case in the previous seasons, are expected to conform to all requirements for the electronic registration under EFA/FIFA Connect Platform and transfer of their players as articulated in this circular and in the registration regulations for the current 2022/2023 football season, including the conformity to club licensing requirements which are now mandatory in terms of the Sporting; Infrastructure; Administrative and Personnel; Legal; and Financial criteria as prescribed by the EFA and/or CAF Club Licensing Regulations, where applicable. No player or club shall be allowed to register without satisfying applicable licensing requirements.
- Clubs in the lower leagues shall at first be registered in their usual system of registration with a gradual integration into the electronic registration system within the 2022/2023 season. In this regard, EFA will accordingly conduct extensive training on the electronic registration of clubs and players in the lower leagues once their respective football leagues have commenced to assure enough time and proper guidance into the integration of their respective players into the electronic registration system.

Compulsory submission of validated Declarations

In addition to the above, it shall be mandatory for all football clubs playing football in all competitions within the territory of the EFA, irrespective of league, to lodge Legal or Validated Declarations in respect of their Participation in Local competitions and associated activities; in international competitions; and other football activities, locally and internationally as well as the Declaration on the Ownership and Control of the clubs in question.

A club that fails to produce this declaration shall not be allowed to register.

Deregistered players

In the case where a club decides to deregister a player who is surplus to requirements, such a player shall in terms of registration regulations be classified under free agents and shall be allowed to join a club of his/her choice.

The only exception to these are players who are deregistered with respect to long-term injuries; players who have been proven to have retired from football; players who for various reasons have left the country, all of whom, if they were available could be utilized by the club.

International Players registrations and transfers

All international players shall be registered in terms of the Regulations for the Status and Transfer of Players as articulated by FIFA as well as other regulations they may be applicable in terms of the FIFA, CAF, and/or EFA Licensing programmes and laws of the country. No player shall be registered without having satisfied these regulations.

All international players playing football at the Premier League and National First Division League, shall over and above the applicable registration requirements, be employed on contract, a copy of which shall be submitted to the registration office of the EFA before such a player can be registered.

No international player shall be allowed to register with any of the above-mentioned leagues without having satisfied the requirement of a written contract. This written contract shall be authentically signed and initialed on every page by authentic officials of the club and such contracts shall be co-signed and initialed with the player. If a recognized players' agent is involved he/she shall also be required to be signatory to the contract alongside the player in question.

As a principle, the player's signature shall always be available.

Statistics of registered clubs and players

In view of the fact that registration in the first window period shall close on the 21st October 2022, all registration offices shall be expected to forward to the EFA a detail of clubs under their membership by name and league to which they affiliate, a detail of which shall have reached the EFA office by the 11th November 2022, at the latest.

Also included in these statistics will be the number of players with respect to each league level, i.e. Premier League, National First Division league, Regional Super League, Promotional league and the lower league together with the number of international players under registration.

Medical examination of players

All players in the PLE (i.e. Premier League and National First Division League) shall not be allowed to register without having undergone a medical examination from recognized Medical practitioners or institutions of the country. In this respect clubs shall be expected to over and above other registration requirements produce a Medical Certificate qualifying the player to be medically fit to play football in the current season. Further regulations may be expected in view of international changes on the subject.

Other member leagues should also encourage their clubs to have their players medically examined too.

Registration fee for players and clubs under the FIFA Connect Platform

The registration fee per player playing in a National First Division League and Premier League shall be E100.00 (One Hundred Emalangenani Only per player); whilst those campaigning in the Regional Super leagues' clubs; Women Football League, U17 and U15 Premier League teams, shall be E50.00 (Fifty Emalangenani Only per player). Registration fees are payable with the EFA Finance Office, after which a club will be accorded a receipt that will allow the player(s) in question to be registered and/or the collection of playing licenses.

No other arrangement shall be acceptable. It is therefore, important for clubs and membership to observe this directive.

Important to note

1. For international players; only registrations whose applications shall be lodged with the EFA office, before or on the last day of a window period, shall be allowed to register outside that window registration period, owing to the processes involved in acquiring other essential and relevant documentation, a situation which is also provided for in the FIFA Regulations for the Status and Transfer of Players.
2. No extension to the registration periods shall be allowed, hence it is expected that all registrations and/or applications should have been concluded by the last day of the registration window period, unless they qualify to be registered under exceptional cases as articulated in this circular and regulations that may be provided to this effect.
3. Registration offices are therefore expected to strictly abide by these regulations and timelines. Clubs are therefore expected to plan in advance for these registration periods to avoid instances of failed registration caused by failure to conform to the regulations and timelines.
4. The EFA Licensing and International Affairs Department will provide the operational requirements and training in scheduled dates; which must be strictly observed by all football clubs and their respective registration offices for the realization of a smooth and adequate registration process.

Your usual good cooperation is solicited.

Yours in Football,
Eswatini Football Association,

Frederick Mngomezulu
Chief Executive Officer
